

G

a magazine dedicated to anyone who has been inspired to pursue their dreams by someone they love.

GLADYS

Faithful Friends
OUR PET EDITION

MODEL Contest
IT COULD BE YOU!

2 Times a Charm
Vegas Vow Renewals

Pittsburgh Shines
In Our Gladys Girl Editorial

FOLLOW ME TO GREECE

And Discover the Mythical World of Ithaca!

Elena LaQuatra
On Greece's Next Top Model

www.gladysmagazine.com $9.95
Winter Issue 2011

D-Bap of Luxury

By Julee Peterson, Gladys Magazine Travel Director.

In Hollywood not only are there stars in the sky, but there are stars on the sidewalks and walking among the masses. They love their dogs and like to spoil their pooches as much as themselves. That's where D Pet Hotel comes in. It's a new level of luxury when it comes to housing a pet in comfort when owners must be away. This pet resort is for the Distinguished dog, complete with behavior analysis for entry. No rebels please.

Haven't heard of it? My tail-wagging friends, read that paper you're fetching...located in Hollywood this place is a palace for pets to play, stay and relax in. With over 6,000 feet of sculpted pet parks for optimal exercise options for large, medium and small dogs D Pet Hotels sets the new standard in "out of the dog-house" thinking. But these parks are in the house - so rain or shine your pet will run, romp and roll.

D Pet Hotel is a complete hotel in every sense of the word. There is no expense spared for the ultimate in pet stay-cations. If you don't have opposable thumbs to drive yourself and your owner is on the run, then D Pet Hotel's Chauffeur service will pick you up at your doorstep and return you there after your discriminating stay-cation.

Luxury starts (and never really stops) at the D Boutique for the shopping Schnauzer, St. Bernard or Saluki wishing to upgrade their beds or have an organic snack. Parisian poodles peruse accessories like bowls, bags and fancy leashes all from D Pet Hotel's ChromeBones collection. Rest those four shopping frenzied feet by checking in to the hotel you'll want to call home.

The luxury suites would impress even the snootiest two-legged friend and are in a class of their own appointed with chic queen size beds, flat screen TVs and decor that looks like a modern Martha Stewart designed it. Calming browns and creams keep decor simple and streamlined and elegant. Suites start at Standard with a cushy chew-proof Kuranda dog bed and a flat screen TV. Sensational suites add human-sized twin beds and bigger flat screens, but at the top of the dog pile is the Uber Suite complete with a pet-parent sized queen bed and a very large 42" flat screen TV.

Bedtime never looked so good. Neither did exercise. If Fido doesn't want to spend time in the play yard with other dogs, he can run to PANT - the state of the art exercise room - where doggie treadmills and personal training are available for the slightly over-fed or those breeds watching their girlish figures (poodles take note).

The last stop for your special pal is the Spa. Standard grooming is available or the more discerning dogs may book treatments like massages, doggie body wraps, vitamin baths, hair color and cut, or simply have your nails trimmed to puppy pedicure perfection.

How do you get your owner to take you here?

1. Be a good dog;
2. Run to them whenever they come home.
3. Be their best friend. Lick their face whenever the opportunity arises (or lowers to your level, as the case may be).
4. Fetch the paper.
5. Above all, raise that wet nose in the air as a statement to say "I am discriminating and deserve d-best!"

After all, this isn't just a hotel, it's an experience for fabulous owners to distinguish their dogs above all regular levels of special treatment. Dorothy and Toto said, "There's no place like home," but they didn't know about D Pet Hotel - or that's where their wishes would've taken them.